We welcome healthcare professionals to join us for our Skin and Wound Micro-credentials to learn about updated best practices. Residents in Northern Ontario, particularly, Indigenous individuals, have a much higher rate of amputations of their lower extremities. Our inter-professional training in health care builds capacity for increased Northern-based knowledge and skills. Particular attention will be given to the unique needs of Indigenous and remote patients as well as the interconnectivity between professions. We welcome any healthcare providers involved in skin and wound care to join us; however, upon completion, you must still be within your scope of practice with your regulating professional college. For additional information, please see the agenda and speaker tabs on the registration site.
